MEDICINAL.

Chums.

The young couple always together before marriage, rarely keep up this happy intimacy as man and wife. They are not tired of each other, but the young wife finds herself weak and languid, with no inclination for exercise. And thus begins a division of pursuits and interests which often ends in divided lives. The use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong. It stops the drains which undermine the strength, cures "female weakness," nourishes the nerves and gives vigor to the whole body. There is neither opium, cocaine or other narcotic in "Favorite Prescription."

"I suffered from female weakness about eight years—tried several doctors, but derived no benefit until I began using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Mrs. John Green, of Danville, Boyle Co., Ky. "This medicine was recommended to me by other patients. I have taken six bottles, and I feel like another person."

Free. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008 pages, 200 illustrations, is sent free, on receipt of stamps, to cover expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 31 stamps for cloth binding. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

LETTER FROM CLIFTON SPRINGS.
(Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.)
Clifton Springs, N. Y., Aug. 17.—The change from Atlantic City to the Sanitarium at this place, situated amidst the quiet, beautiful hills and dales of Ontario county, New York, while quite marked, gives none of the unpleasant associations that the word sanitarium might suggest to some minds. As Dr. Clark, the founder of the Christian Endeavor Society, said, in writing of this wonderful house of health, "It is a happy retreat. It is a place where sick people make a business of getting well, and tolerably well people a business of getting better, and tired people a business of getting rested and all a business of learning to keep well." There is nothing of the hospital about our surroundings. Of course we know that there are some persons confined to their rooms, but as one enters the spacious and beautiful dining room or mingles with the guests in the park, on the veranda or in the parlor, there is found as happy and delightful a company as can be met with at any of the best resorts in the country.

The Sanitarium was founded fifty years ago by the late Dr. Henry Foster, whose expressed purpose was to establish a home for God's people who were tired in, but not of, His work, where they might get refreshed and give themselves for future service. While the institution has ever remained true to this purpose, such is its reputation that all who need its rest and treatment come and enjoy themselves under its hospitable roof. The expenses are no greater than at a good hotel, and under this head are included medical attendance and treatment. Except during the months of July and August all missionaries, teachers of schools and clergymen with their families are allowed a rebate of one-third off the regular price, while throughout the year the classes receive free treatment at the Sanitarium when boarding outside at very reasonable rates in the village.

The village itself, built partly in the valley and on adjoining hills to the east and west of the Sanitarium, is most attractive, with its pretty, clean looking cottages, most of them boarding houses, and well kept lawns and gardens. The pavements consist of large well laid concrete flagging. We were told that considering the quality of the work, the expense of laying it was not great. A gentleman from Boston thought it might pay to have the maker of the flagging take a contract for that city. The same suggestion might be transferred to Alexandria so that its pavement might keep abreast with the square of vitrified brick now completed on King street. But we must come back to the sanitarium. The original building was a simple affair established as an old time diner and more commodious structure which did duty for many years. The present edifice is a noble six-story brick structure furnished with every modern equipment. The bath rooms are superb. The bathing and dressing compartments are formed of handsomely polished marble slabs, the floors are of tessellated pavement, covered, except in the compartments, with soft rugs, and the rooms for taking the proper hour's rest after a bath are furnished with handsome leather couches.

If one arrives, as we did, in the evening, the nurse comes to the room the next morning, and assigns you to one of the nine resident physicians for treatment. After several interrogations and answers on both sides, the bath ticket is made out, from a long list of Russian, Turkish, vapor needle, electro-thermal, electro-chemical, salt rubs, ammonia rubs, douches, packs of all kinds, massage, both hand and machine, with electric treatment of all varieties. Of course you don't take all. The doctor assigns one, two or three a day as the case may require. Your correspondents were content to begin with a Turkish bath, then to take in regular order massage, salt rubs static electricity, electro-thermal baths and a medicated "pack." The doctor turns you over to the head nurse, and she in her turn sends you to the appointed hours to the respective bathers. Thus you become an accepted member of the institution. What with the regular meals, morning prayer, gymnasium, undressing for bath, the bath, dressing again, the required rest after each bath, and a daily constitutional, very little time is left for ennui. The cost of arms of this place should be a sheet and a towel, for during bathing hours you see men and women with these necessary articles rolled up under their arm or in a bag, marching to their respective quarters for the required treatment. It has occurred to us that a great astute mind devised the sanitarium programme as a measure for keeping those who have little to do constantly occupied, which is a great factor in effecting any cure. Early to bed and early to rise is also a maxim faithfully carried out, as breakfast comes at half past seven in the morning, and all lights in the parlors, halls and reading room are turned off at half-past nine at night. No dancing or card playing is permitted, but the pro-
